

Mothers

the home of good sounds

1968 - 1971

Mothers was THE 'home of good sounds'. From 1968 to 1971 the club carved a niche in the history of rock music, being voted number one venue in the world by America's Billboard magazine.

This book captures the spirit of the club, telling the story of its rise to fame as the mecca of the underground music scene through the eyes of its members, managers and musicians and helping to explain why Mothers was so unique.

The list of bands who played there reads like a roll call of rock legends. Pink Floyd recorded Ummagumma at Mothers, The Who performed Tommy and Traffic staged their debut gig.

As DJ John Peel recalls '... I sometimes get mail from younger people who live in Erdington who are amazed to hear that for a few years, the best club in Britain - and it was, because I went to most of them - was right here in Birmingham.'

Price £7.95 (including postage + packing)

To order, simply return the tear off slip below to Marjorie Westley, Central Library, Chamberlain Square, Birmingham B3 3HQ
Telephone 0121 235 2868

detach here

Order Form

Please send me _____ (number) of 'Mothers: The Home of Good Sounds'.

I enclose a cheque for £ _____ made payable to Birmingham City Council.

Or

Please invoice me for £ _____

quoting this order number

Please deliver to: _____

_____

_____